TO EXPEDITE BUSINESS.

Eastern journals, delayed by obstruction of mail routes but now arriving, show that there has been a great deal of commotion attendant upon the efforts of Speaker Reed to secure despatch of business in the house of representatives. His repeated decisions to the effect that all members present are to be counted as of the quorum, whether vol-ing or not, and that members are not to ob-struct the business of the house by sitting atchied in their seats and refusing to vote or questions before that body, are denounced by the opposition as acts of sauration, tyranny and oppression, and yet, in fact, the real question is whether the majority of the liouse line the right to transact busines. the nouse sine the right of transact busines, or not, and whether it is justly within, the power and high to the miliority to prevail transaction of business by acourse of action which may be called a policy of strengous incrimated continuous.

It is a sound principle of parliamentary action that the voting in a legislative body is valid it a quorum be present, though less thing a quorum votes. Thus, if fifty members constitute a quorum, and fifty members are present, it tion to prevent the passage of a motion by abstaining from voting, when, if he voted, the motion would be carried by a vote of 40 raised that a quorum is not present, and unless this presumption is overthrown the vote quorieu was actually present at the time when the you was taken, and if it is so over-thrown then the york is valid. If a quorum does not yote but is in fact present, the sec-

a quorum was present."
The course pursued by Speaker Reed, and astained by the majority of the nouse, is based on this principle or rule. Though it has not been the settled rule of the house of representatives heretafore, it now will be-come such and each party when in power may apply it and take the responsibility and consequences. Absence of such a rule here-tofore has allowed opportunity for factional opposition, and enuses the lusiness at delays. Under the new rule husiness at least will be expedited, and when the demoretury should make entry in the records that

The same regulations apply to the delivery and payment of icy orders. This bill would cut off one of the expsions of the present law, which is now practiced by the Louisidna State Lottery. In the advertisements of the concern a list of banks is given to which money may be sent for the purchase of tickets, the law proventing the delivery of such letters to the lottery itself, but the passage of Mr. Bingham's bill would, prevent this and almost destroy the lottery or, at any rate, make an enormous hole in its profits.

Another till would the Another bill prohibits the sale of lotters tickets and the advertisement of their sale in the District of Columbia and the terri-tories. This would greatly reduce the income of the Louisiana lottery as Washing-ton is perhaps the city in which the largest lottery tickets is sold. and rural production most diversified, and lowest in the newer sections where agricult ure is developed along but few special lines of production. One rep arkabic showing of the purposes of a quorum so that business the full tables is the procress we decrease it might proceed.

The sole question at issue is the right of interior to the scabeard. Year by the house to Jorward legislation in spite of year, the differences—introduced farm in the west grown better if it had permitted its grid of the properties of a minority to prevent it. Does the coloris of a minority to prevent it. Does the coloris of a minority to prevent it. Does the coloris of a minority to prevent it. Does the coloris of a minority to prevent it. Perhaps the prest significant thing about the above table is that it shows a difference of 51 cents per bushed in the price-received for their corn by the firmers of New York and Nebroska in 1870, against a difference in 1889 of only 32 conts. In wheat there was at the earlier date a differ-of wheat has already been dwelt upon in The OREGORIAN. It is clear that it is the result of the competition with the United States in the markets of the world of countries where land and labor are cheaper and the conditions more favorable to the production and transportation of cerests. So long as we export a surplus of our wheat product, the price of the residue so d and consumed at home will be governed by that of the portion soft abroad. So long as Australia, India, South America, compete with the United Stakes in the supply of wheat to London, the price there will be ignorerated by the cost of production in that one of the four countries which can grow nost cheaply enough to meet the demand from mointh to month. Every one of the other three countries grows wheat more cheaply than the United States, consequently the London price has fallen from year to year, as the supplies from those countries have increased. We have to sell our wheat at a low price, perhaps lower than the cost of production and transportation, because wheat can be grown in Austrella, India and South America, transported to London, and sold at a profit for that price. There is no remedy for this state of things, if we are to continue togrow wheat for export, ex-cept to diminish either the first-cost of wheat knowing or the expense of transportation. The former is more likely to increase than delays. Under the new rule husiness at least will be expedited, and when the demonstratis-come into power in the house they can have their turn at it and assume all the responsibility it will entail.

A CRISADE AGAINST LOTTERIES.

Louistana lottery tickets are extensively sold in Portland. Six hells are now pending before congress which seek to suppress lattices. The bill of Bingham of Ponnsylvania provides that no letter of circular concerning lotteries or six illar enterprises shall be dued not more than $500 or less than the consecutive.

The former is more takely to increase than to difficult in the stant in competing grows more valuable, and tho Litter, as 'shown by the above table, a handly likely to fall more rapidly in this than in competing countries. The read remeds probably is to transfer a portion of our lessor and expitial from agriculture to manufactures, and so at the same time diminish, as the contry develops and to diminish, as the contry develops and the identity to fall more rapidly in this than in competing countries. production. This cannot balldone all it once, but the first step towards it is greater, diversity in our agriculture.

The cause of the declins in the price of coru and outs is not present, the same as that for the depreciation of wheat, though closely related to it. Corn and outs are not don market undoubledly has an influence on the price of core here. Primarily and directly, however, the price of these articles is determined by the conditions of the domestic demand and susply. These have been disturbed of late years by an abnormal increase in the production of the consercereals, partly the natural result of the increase of the farm area of the country; partly the result of the diwereion of agriculture from wheat to corn and cats, on account of the low price of the former. By causing this diversion and sales have a constant to the country of the sales of the corn and cats, on account of the low price of the former. By causing this diversion and sales have to a coverable to the country that are the country to the country to the country that are the country to the mestic demand and supply. These have and so leading to an overproduction of 'the coarser cereals, the competition of other woman or other than royal rain." In France wheat-growing countries as contributed in was that of Muie. Kestner, which occurred directly to the fall in the trice of, corn and last mouth in Parls. The deceased was the oats. So, while the acregge of wheat has a mother of Muie. The average price of corn (28.3 cents) is 31/2 cents lower than the iswest point ever before reached—in 1378. The average price of oats (23 cents) is 11/2 cents lower than the lowest previous price. This decline and the resulting degreesion of the agricultural interest is the direct and necessary consequence of over-production. The reguedy for it as in the case of wheat, the diversion of which are considered. abor and cupital to other production; more diversified farming first, because this chanis most natural and easy, that the transfer of energy to manufacturing industries, as fast as it can be brought about.

"SOLUMO: AND HIS PLE EURES." An Address by R.v. David Wetz il at the T. M. C. A. Hall.

A series of special addresses to roung men on six Bible characters, to be given by six of the city pastors, was commonced yester-day at the Y. M. C. A. hall. A large crowd was "Solomon the princely pleasure-secker, and his life contrasted with young men of country. In drawing practical lessous for young monor to day from the life of Solo-mon, the speaker said that one of the sit-takes of Bolomon was his choice of seves. And so many a man makes mistakes along this line. A good wife is invaluable to a young man. But young men, he said, beware of marrying a woman that sheers at religion. Bewere howlyou marry a Godless airt. Such women are few, but there are some, and you want to look out for them. The speaker, then paid a glowing tribute to woman, denouncing in the strongest language men who said there were no good, tene women; and he indvised any young nan who was industrious and able to surport a wife to seep out a good Curistian girl and manny her. Another I istake of Soleand marry her. Another listake of Solow-funurs pointed out by the speaker, was that of turning away from his God, at the with of his wives, and one that caused his sing-dom to be rent from his ha alo.

The speaker closed with an earnest appeal to the young men to turn from folly to the wisdom of God, and icad good and pure lives.

Secretary Jacks then took the meeting. and urged any who desired to be better men-to start to day, and four asked the prayers of the Christians.

An after service was held in the parlors conducted by Mr. Jocks, and four nien resolved to become Christians.
Next Sabhath the subject will be: "Joseph. His Life hand Heroism, an Example for the Young Men of To-day." The speaker will Foung Men of To-day," The speaker will be Rev. Mr. Bushong, D. P., of East Port-land.

lighted to find the audiforium and stage entirely completed, and that the radiators had thoroughly dried and made consiontable the entire interior of the building. Miss Juch greatly admired the decorations of the new house, pronouncing it the one of the most deganity appointed and reactiful opets houses in the country. *

Miss Juch has signed twolve autograph silvers, received three young liches who desired to consult her concerning their voices, reluctantly declined an invisition to go duck hunting (for the charming prima honns is an ardent sportiswoman), and accepted an invitation to one midday breakfast to occur during the week. All it is within the thirty six hours of her sojourn in Portlant.

The scenery and costumes for "Faust" tonight and "Carmen" to-morrow are all in the opers house, and the dressing rooms resigned to the various gristis, preparatory to a rehestral called for 10 A. M. today, waich rehearsal is really the beginning of the artistic career of our new opers edifice.

It is desirable that the public should thorroughly understand, so as not to be a say of the inusic of the operas, that the curtain will be fung up starp at 85 belock every night, whether there is any one in the douse or not. Manusger Hayman believes in being prompt in beginning and closing a performance.

RICE & DIXEY "PEARL OF PEKIS."

It is safe to say that the production at the new Marquam next week of Rice & Dixey's nicepsiful come opera, "The Pearl of Pekin," will be one of the best over seen in Port and. The scenic effects are un que and beautiful, the same as were used in the New York ruhi; the costumes are handsome and typically correct, the price-brac and surroundings rich, and picturesque, and the cast the same as has been seen in all the principal cities for the past two years, the bright particular star being the civer comedian. Louis Harrison. This pradaction really begins the regular senson of the Marquam Grapd at regular precess Although "The Pearl of Pekin" has never heretolore been presented at less than $1.50, Managor Hayman has prevailed upon the management to conform to the regular schedu. of prices which helpas set for the house.

New Park Theater.

Miss Vernona Jarbean breins an engagement to-night in her musical comedy "Star-light," at this theater. Miss Jarbeau personally is a vivacious young woman, quite as interesting off as she is on the stage.
